All applicants for a St. Louis Park Certificate of Competency shall take the written test unless waived by the Building and Energy Dept. director. To be eligible to have the test waived, the applicant shall have a current Certificate of Competency issued by a city having requirements equal to or greater than St. Louis Park. Currently, cities that meet these requirements are Minneapolis, St. Paul and Bloomington. If you possess a Certificate of Competency from any one of these cities, a copy of the certificate must be attached to and submitted with this application to waive the St. Louis Park competency test.

This application is used for new applicants only. Renewal of a St. Louis Park competency card requires proof of at least six hours of continuing education during the three-year period the card is good for and a renewal form sent to the current card holder.
